COMPETENCY DESCRIPTION

This micro-credential addresses this critical need by equipping healthcare professionals with essential knowledge about cognitive, psychological, and physiological aspects of aging, enabling them to provide effective, adaptive support for older adults' wellbeing. The program recognizes that successful aging care requires more than just medical knowledge—it demands an understanding of how aging affects the whole person, including their cognitive abilities, emotional needs, and physical changes. Online proctoring enables online exam taking within a controlled and monitored environment, thereby enhancing academic integrity. Online proctoring may occur through a variety of methods, including but not limited to:

a. live online proctoring where a remote invigilator authenticates identity and observes completion of an exam using specialized software and recordings;
b. automated proctoring where the exam session is recorded and AI (artificial intelligence) analyzed;
c. browser lockdown that limits access to other applications, websites, copying, printing, screen capture and other functions; or
d. a combination of both live/automated proctoring and browser lockdown.

Course instructors will review recordings, analyses, and data obtained through online proctoring for academic integrity infractions. It is the student's responsibility to meet the technical, software, location, and identity verification requirements necessary to enable online proctoring.
