NURS3503 Integrating Collaboration and Coordination Roles in Registered Nursing

COURSE DESCRIPTION

As collaborators and educators, registered nurses work with multidisciplinary teams, including doctors, therapists, and social workers, to create care plans that meet individual learning needs. They apply strategies to optimize health literacy and support informed decision making. Registered Nurses use effective communication and mutual respect to ensure holistic and coordinated care. As coordinators, registered nurses manage various aspects of patient care, such as scheduling appointments, arranging consultations, and facilitating transitions between care settings. Their organizational skills help streamline workflows, optimize resources, and improve patient outcomes and satisfaction. This course highlights the important roles of collaborator and coordinator that registered nurses perform.
